Hunter Casillas

IS 543 – Homework #5

September 18th 2019

Rose: I really enjoyed how you went over auto-layout and constraints for both portrait and landscape. I've always struggled to get everything to go exactly where I want it and you made it clear and pointed out a bunch of features I hadn't known about. For example, I always got the warning that my layout would be a different size at runtime than in my storyboard and pushing that little reload button fixed it for me. I also appreciated the shortcuts to make things easier and faster, like option dragging to create duplicate objects on view controllers.

Bud: I want to go back and work on my previously developed applications and implement everything I learned. I'm also in the middle of developing my 340 twitter clone application and it's been so fun to work on it while learning more and more about the swift language and iOS development.

Thorn: I think one thing that I don't like about the videos is not being able to ask a question about a specific part at the exact moment I have the question. Compared to when I'm in a lecture, it feels less personable. This is a very small thorn. I enjoy the videos very much and find them informative and enjoyable to watch and learn. I'd prefer to watch these videos to waking up at 7 am every morning lol, but I still enjoy class and look forward to the rest of the semester.